The Learning Process

The everyday, in and out, never-ending assembly-line of education. Not just academically, but physically, emotionally, and spiritually, is one's mind filled through his lifetime.

The gradual evolution of becoming educated: does it ever end? No, because there are always new and exciting occurrences and breakthroughs in our modern world. The Learning Process—the continual collection of information.

Dorina

ELBA HI

There are those who think a new, modern building is a necessity for education. But behind this mellowed-with-age facade, people have learned about themselves and the world around them since 1902. The Learning Process—a timeless fundamental.

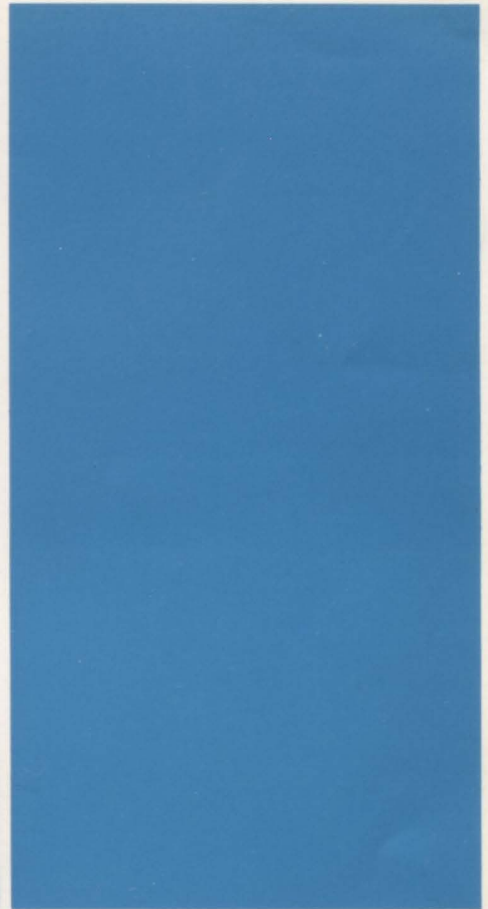

H SCHOOL.

Spirit—the key word in an athletic oriented school; the invisible bond that attaches students of different backgrounds, races, interests and makes them as one.

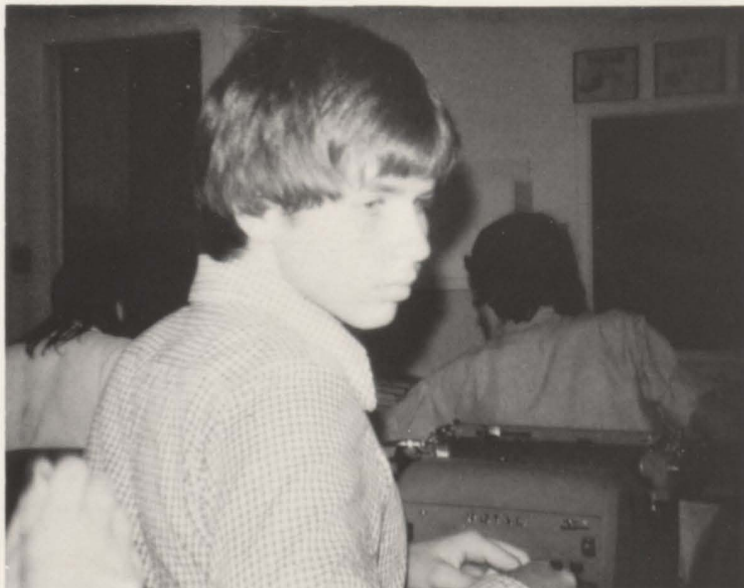

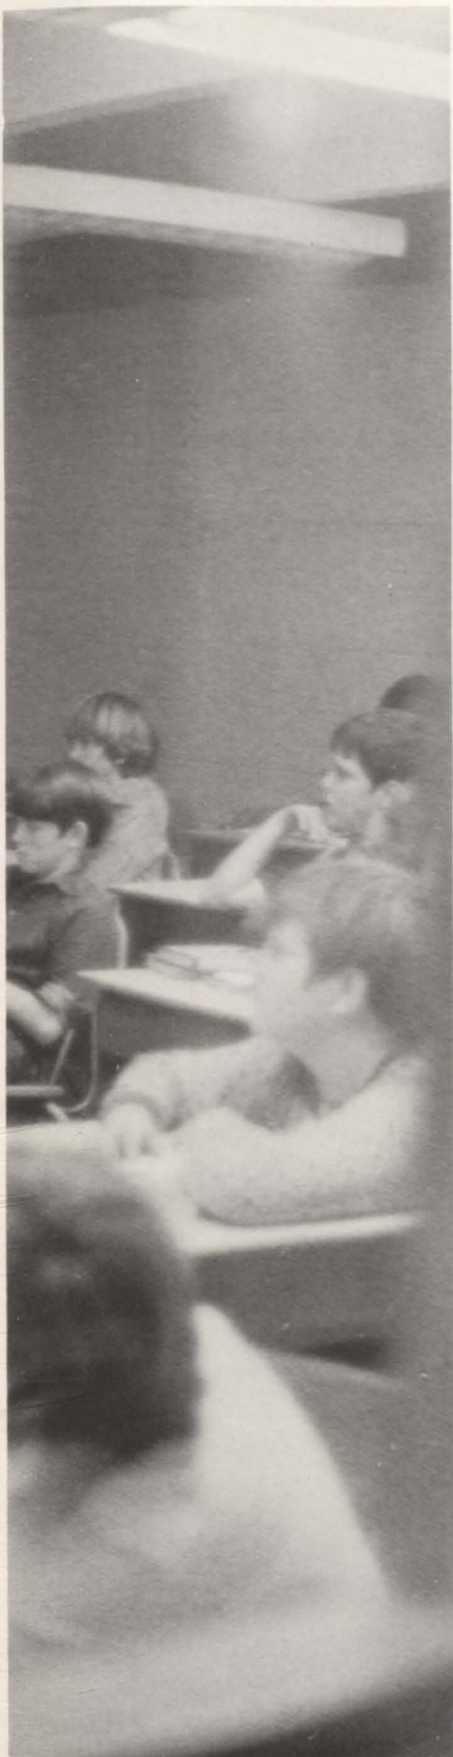

The Senior Class was proud to be the first to have the honor of decorating the first Christmas tree on our campus. Wanda Bludsworth and Janice Sherrer are busily preparing ornaments for this project.

The designated purpose of the classroom is not always the most frequently used. Each classroom is different and reflective of its inhabitant teachers and students.

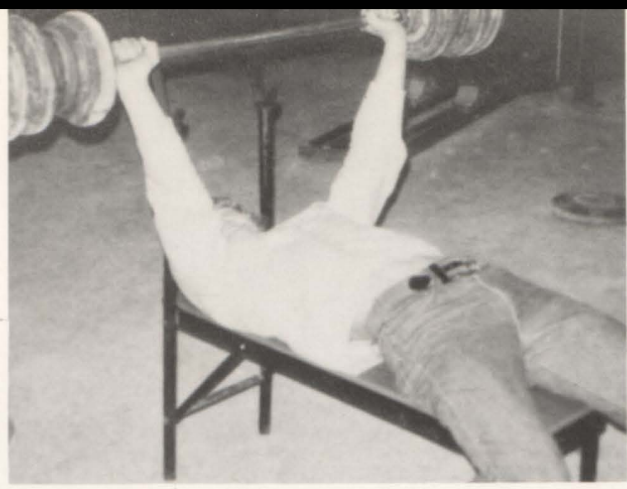

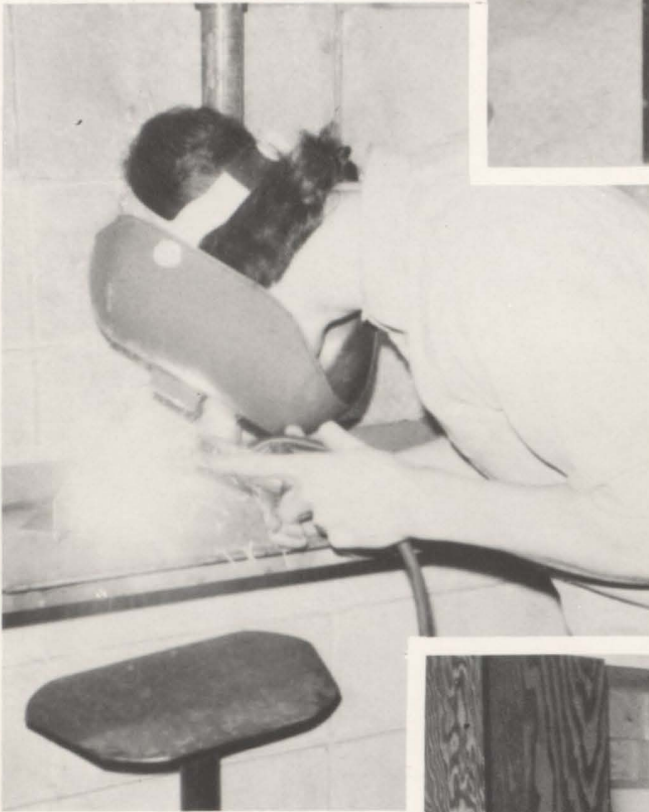

The student experiences his opinions, his emotions, his ability to learn, and his academic standing in respect to fellow students. The classroom is a determinate factor in the over-all success of the Learning Process.

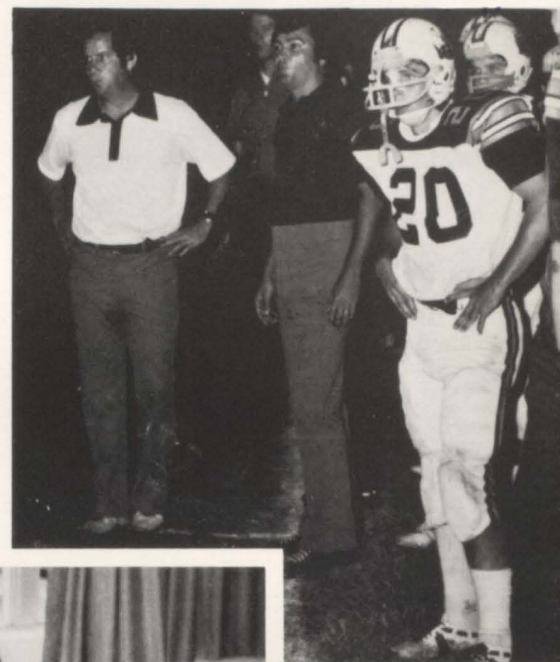

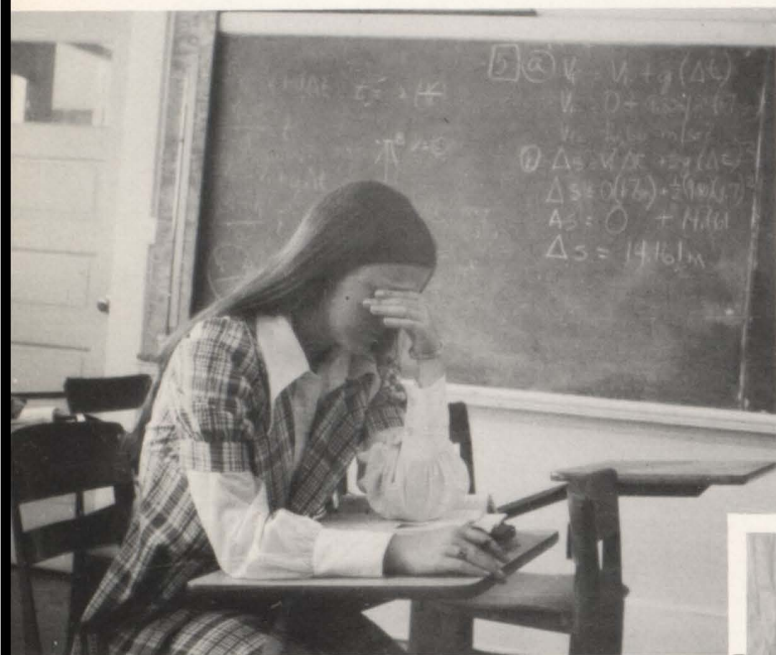

ELBA HIGH SCHOOL.

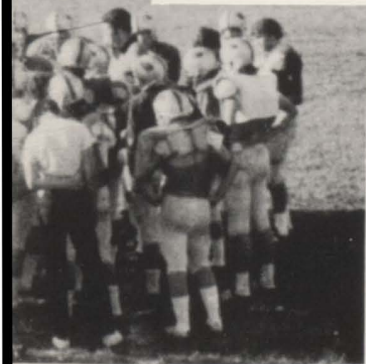

If a child is hurt, he cries. If a dog is frightened, he barks. These are examples of emotion, the instinctive trait of displaying whatever one feels at the moment. Emotion is a lifelong essential, a never-lost ability, a characteristic of personality that adds interest and individuality to the total human being.

The human face, a brilliant countenance depicting emotion in all its forms. An endless array of expression, infinite possibilities for the photographer, the truest example of the human and his relation to his environment.

Laughter, smiles, frowns, grimaces in a reaction parade on the stage of life, each a personal message to its peers.

Homecoming '74 ...

A Day to Remember

Nothing can be compared to the thrills and excitement of homecoming. From the beginning of every school year, students anxiously await the fun and festivities of the approaching homecoming day.

Friday, November 1, 1974, began with the impressive coronation of the Homecoming Queen, Miss Linda Coon, and her court, consisting of Miss Debra Hammonds, Miss Jo Ruth Kendrick, and Miss Jana Brown. That afternoon our biggest and best parade yet, composed of more than 80 entries, made its way through the town. The climax of the day came with the game between the Elba Tigers and the Andalusia Bulldogs, followed by the Annual Homecoming Dance at the Recreation Center.

The students of Elba High School went home with pleasant thoughts of another great day to remember for years to come.

"Without a doubt, the band is the most closely knit group in school. If any group in school can be thought of as a family, this is it." Quoted from the 1973 Elbala, this statement is typical of the thoughts of those who in any way are connected with the band.

The music program at Elba High School has grown immensely during the past three years. In addition to the symphonic band (consisting mainly of tenth through twelfth graders and the concert band (consisting of seventh through ninth graders), a chorus has been organized under the leadership of assistant band director Bob Stump.

JROTC

In its fourth consecutive year, the Junior Reserve Officer's Training Corps at Elba High School is rising to fill society's demand for more capable leaders. By utilizing the atmosphere of a military-oriented environment, cadets receive unsurpassed leadership experience while serving in various leadership positions. The primary objective of JROTC is not to prepare young citizens for military service, but to afford students the opportunity to make themselves better individuals. The JROTC curriculum combines both classroom instruction and practical application in order to make the course more meaningful to the cadets. Although the Corps is the best prerequisite for future military service, total emphasis is placed on leadership development and citizenship. By assuming the small tasks offered in JROTC, cadets receive the best possible preparation for the difficult tasks they must face in the future.

SPIRIT

The first step in having a good school spirit is knowing just what school spirit is. It's not something I can reach out and grab hold of physically; it's something I reach out and grab hold of with my heart and mind. School spirit is not just yelling at pep rallies or football games; it's not just wanting my team to win or my band to perform the best of all other bands. School spirit is having a deep and true concern for my school, what it stands for, and the many others who go there or are connected to it in some way. School spirit should show in the faces of the students, the rooms of the school and all around the campus. I can tell there is a lack of school spirit when I see littered campus grounds, topsy turned classrooms, and other students making fun of those who are trying to show care and concern for their school, what it stands for, and their fellow students. There are many things that upset and irritate me, but none do this so bad as seeing someone hurt the spirit of my school. Once school spirit is damaged, it leaves a scar. The initial wound may heal very quickly but the scar will still show for a long time to come. I can't really think of a way to make the school spirit perfect, but I have many views and ideas on how to improve it. We need to try some way to reach out to the fellow students of ours and show them what school spirit means to us. If we were to show them, they would respect it and uphold it longer and better than if we were to just talk about it. I know this is true because actions speak louder than words. Someone will watch me do something before they will listen to me tell about doing. In order to have a school spirit, all people, not just a few must participate. For if there is ever the smallest minority, the cause will be lost. This small few could take away from the meaning of the whole idea, thus killing its effect. I want Elba High School to be the best school around and in order to do this we must go out and create within ourselves and our school the best school spirit around.

Defense . . . the name of the game. White (70) shows how it's done.

Football, a well-known word throughout Elba and the number one game at EHS, brought many exciting moments to students and fans, but along with them trailed many tears and disappointments. Every game—some a success and some a lost dream—displayed the TIGERS full of spirit and fighting for victory. However, regardless of the outcome, the TIGER PRIDE was never defeated.

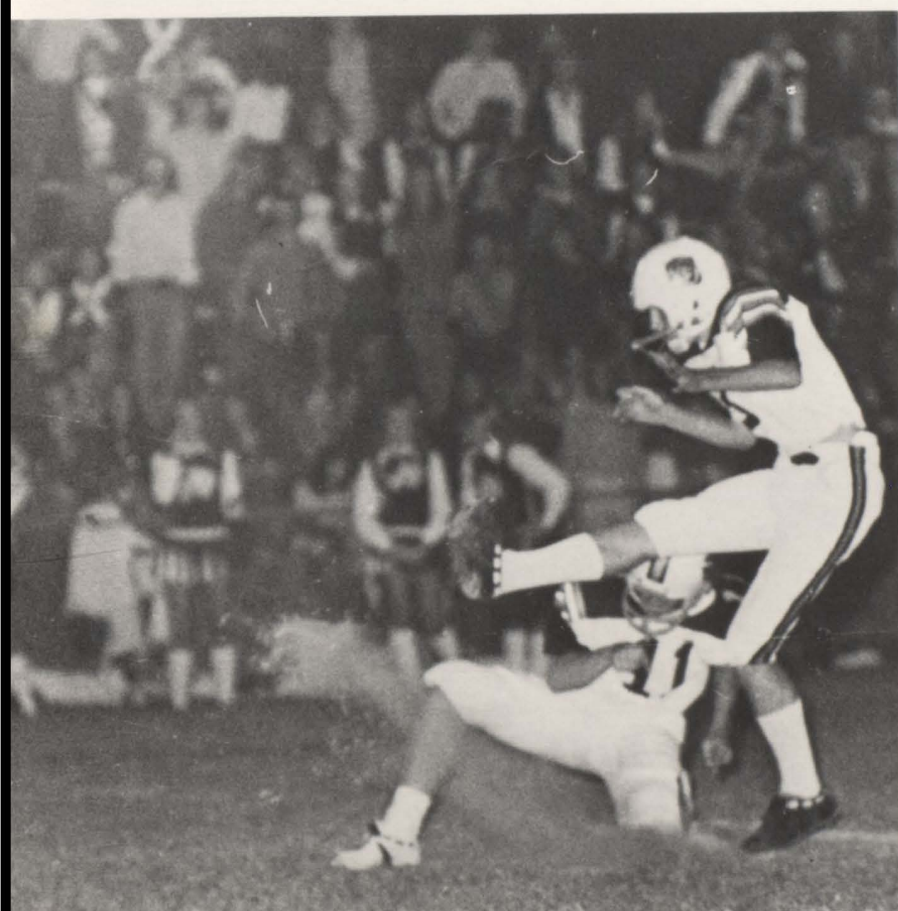

Coach Paul "Bear" Bass gets the referees straight.

Mickle carries the skin for six points.

This excellent play proves Lewis (88) worthy of All SAC title.

Collier stirs the dust as the always needed "Pat" is added.

Smith (52) ... leg and all ...
foots a good one.

The TIGERS came out waving their colors, but injuries plagued them wherever they went. Win or lose, the TIGER fans cheered on, and this lone fact wandered in the back of each player's mind. Every game was one of a kind, and each will remain a memory to the Seniors of 1975.

... Crunch ...

Culver (23) cuts the corner for six points.

Hanchey (43) stretches for the skillfully played first down.

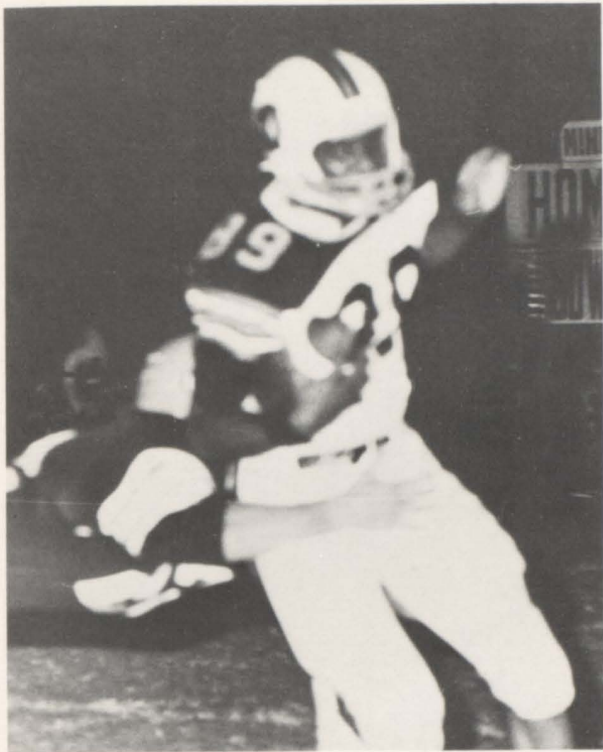

Hanchey (43) tackles with grace and composure.

Phillips (35) turns the corner under the hard pursuing Bulldogs.

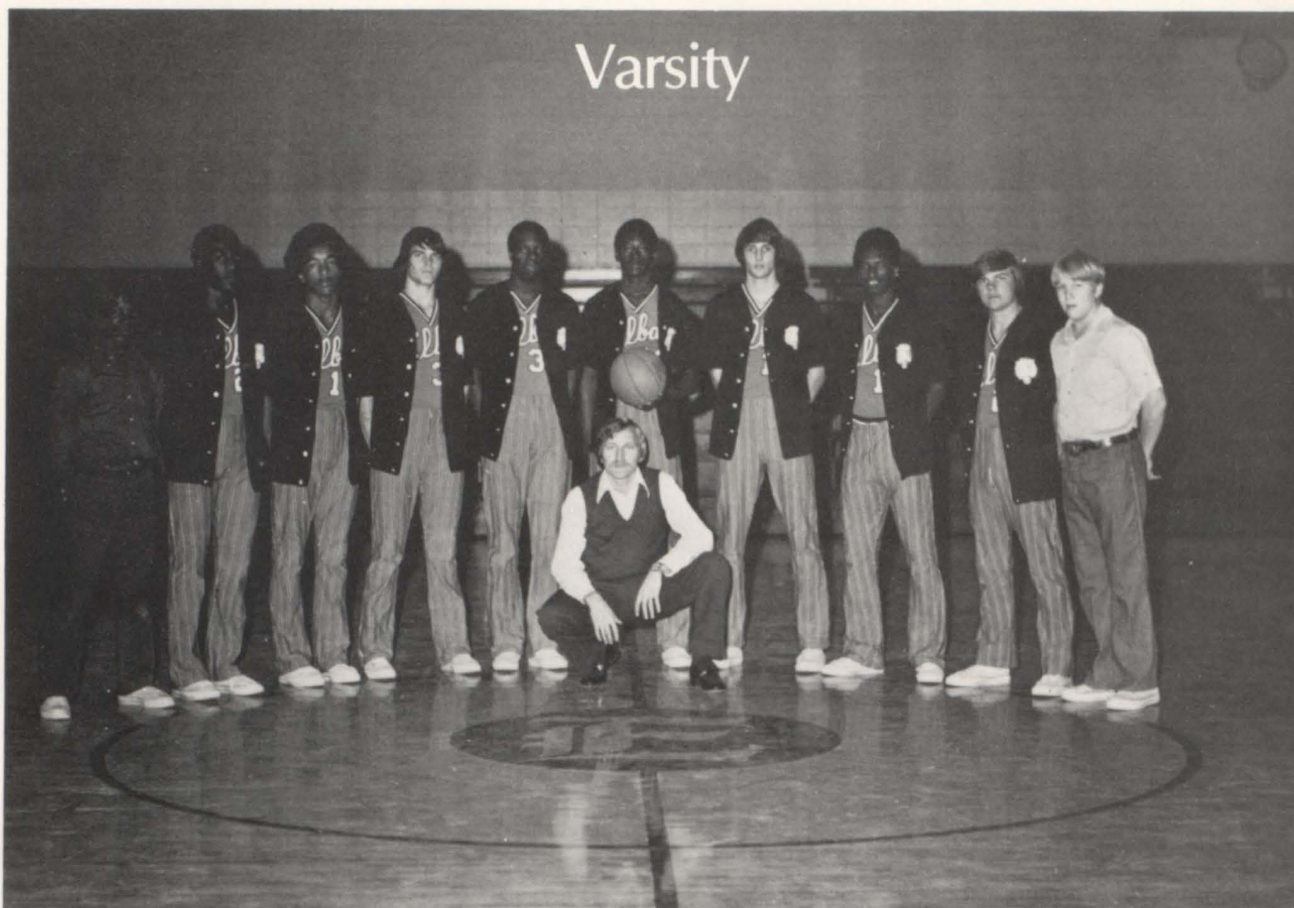

Brunson twists and turns for yardage.

Fuller (12) connects . . . Mallory (66) stops the rush.

All SAC Kelley and Mincy apply the breathtaking crunch.

Basketball is only one of the great array of sports activities in which one can involve himself at Elba High School.

As the tension mounts in a game, the audience becomes just as competitive as the players. The dirt, the tears, the sweat, the heavy air, the strained and often vain cheers of the crowd—all welded into what only a fan from Elba could call excitement ...

Standing: James Smith, Will Martin, Jimmy Morris, Frank Thomas, James Starks, Mike Nolin. Kneeling: Coach Dickie Bensing, R.V. Folmar, Max Fuller, Terry Barnes, Sylvester Goosby.

Ninth Grade: Standing: Freddie Clark, Mike Gibson, Jeff Scarborough, Stanley Coleman, Hinton Johns, Coach Kneeling: Joey Holley, Ken Martin, Johnny Dyess, Claude Collier, Roger Hammonds.

The horizon is not the boundary of the world.

At mid-term our minds had already been packed with memories. It was our Senior year, the year we had thought would never come.

It all started with registration. Everyone found out that Democracy was still required, but that was O.K., we wanted to graduate.

Then came the football games. We didn't win them all, but we tried, and we were always proud of our Senior players.

Half-time show after half-time show, practice after practice—this all came to an end, too. The last football game found many Seniors with tears in their eyes. We had gone places together and shared the joy of winning and the agony of defeat. Indeed, we have found a love for each other we never knew existed.

It certainly can't be said we have sat around crying all the time! The dates, and the parties, and all the times have been filled with laughter and happiness.

When we do leave Elba High School, we know the teachers will breathe easier, for we'll be one more Senior Class graduated. We, the Seniors, will be happy to begin the next part of our lives, but our memories of Elba High School will last forever.

Fran English was selected as the 1975 D.A.R. Good Citizen. Eddie Kelley was chosen as Good Citizenship Boy.

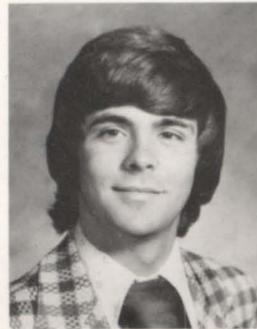

Debbie Henderson, "Miss Susie Homemaker," received the Betty Crocker Future Family Leaders of America Award. All Seniors were asked to participate in this nation-wide test in which many scholarships and exciting trips were available.

We finally became Juniors, the next best thing to being a Senior. This was a time we all had looked forward to and had intended to make Elba High remember the Junior's of '75—and we did.

When it came time to order our class rings, we really couldn't believe it. We were Juniors now for real, not Sophomores anymore. Well, we had to wait quite a while for those precious rings, but when they finally arrived, we were filled with happiness and a feeling of pride.

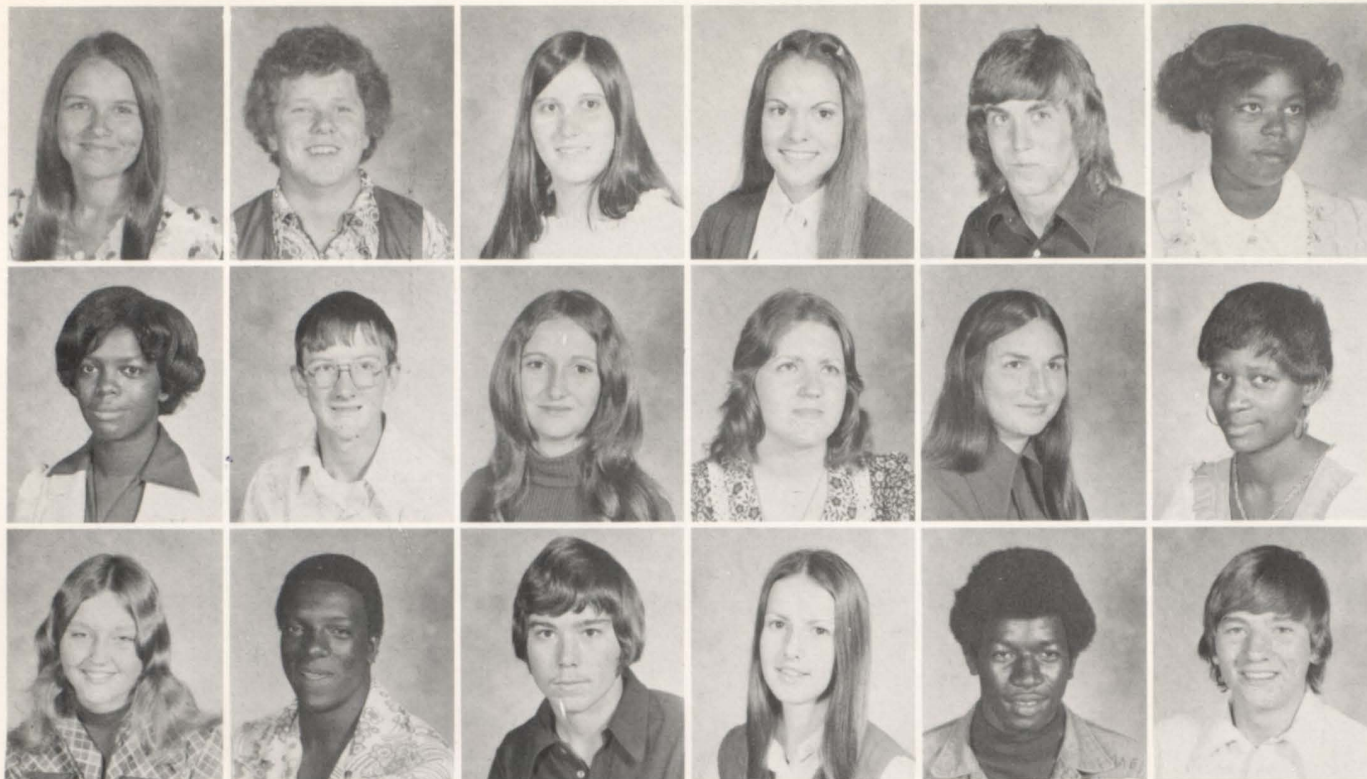

It can be said that our class was one of beauty and friendliness. We were honored to have two lovely girls representing us in the Homecoming Court. Two of our other class beauties were runners-up in the Miss Elbala Pageant. And best of all the winner was a wonderful Junior. Miss Congeniality for the pageant was awarded to a Junior. Yes, all were Juniors and all were wonderful.

We played an important role in the life of the band this year. After all, where would the Color-guard be without the Juniors to give that certain flash?

Many of the star football, basketball, and baseball players have been Juniors and all were great.

We accomplished a lot this year and it will not soon be forgotten. Many lasting friendships were established this year and the memories of the fun we had will be cherished forever. So, long live the Juniors of '75.

If it's a Dorsey it must have INTEGRITY

It it's a Dorsey it must have INTEGRITY

Dorsey Trailers congratulates the Seniors of Elba High School and extends them best wishes for the future.

A complete range of optional features enables us to build trailers to fit budgets as well as to meet operating requirements. But one factor never varies: workmanship.

A low-priced van is produced on the same assembly line as one of the same type "with all the extras." Both are and fabricated by the same automatic riveting assembled on the same jigs

and welding machines.

The same skilled craftsmen perform every operation. And all trailers must pass

the same rigid inspection. Your Dorsey Distributor can sell you the most economical hauling equipment that will work efficiently in your operation.

The ELBALA Staff would like to express its appreciation to Mr. John Ferrin ("Shutterbug") Cox for his kind cooperation during our year-book production period. He supplied us with invaluable assistance in the area of photography. His loyalty will never be forgotten.

1975 Elbala Staff

Au Revoir!

At 2:15, February 3, 1975, we completed our yearbook. Our wits are spent, our bodies have been drained of all strength, we're behind in all our classes, and we're about ready to collapse. The 1975 Elbala ... The Learning Process ... what is it? ... our hearts, bodies, and souls. AMEN!!
